

Up Coming Manufacturing Workshop

Invitation to the NSF Workshop on Future Research Needs in Advanced Manufacturing from Industrial Perspective

Date: August 12-13, 2013

Location: Arlington, VA

Objective:

Leaders In Industry And Academia To Formulate The Long Term Research Goals In The Area Of Manufacturing, Particularly Innovative Manufacturing Processes And Equipment, And To Enhance Respective Process Capabilities.

How:

- (1) Industrial leaders will address their future needs followed by selected attendees from SBIR and academia to present their views.
- (2) Faculty who has extensive experiences working with industry will share their view on needs from industry.
- (3) Program Directors will present various funding mechanisms to stimulate the collaborations between academia and industry.
- (4) Discussions among attendees will be encouraged.

Critical Info:

- (1) Invited speakers from industry and academia are listed at the workshop website <http://advancedmanufacturing2013.northwestern.edu/>
- (2) Attendees who are interested in making short presentations should register before July 12 and submit a 2-slide statement (more info is available on the web). The registration fee of the selected speakers will be waived.
- (3) Early registration date and hotel cutoff date: July 12, 2013
- (4) Early registration fee: $100.

Organizer:

Prof. Jian Cao

Northwestern University

jcao@northwestern.edu